COVER STORY: FRANCISCO LINDOR

READY TO FLY

Getting so close to a championship looks to be his springboard to the next level.

BY DAVE SLIEPKA – BECKETT BASEBALL EDITOR

Heading into the 2017 season, Francisco Lindor appearing on the covers of major sports magazines is not unexpected. Coming off a highly successful 2016 campaign, he and his Cleveland Indians showed they are on the move upward. In his first full season with the Indians, Lindor made the American League All-Star team and led the franchise into its first World Series in 19 years. At the plate, Lindor batted .301 with 182 hits in 604 at-bats, 99 runs scored and 78 RBI. He added 30 doubles, and hammered 15 home runs with 19 stolen bases.

COVER STORY: FRANCISCO LINDOR

There was no letup in his first ever postseason. There he was one of the leaders of the Tribe, with a .310 average, 6 RBI and a .820 OPS. As sweet as all that would sound to a Cleveland fan in 2015, they now know the heartbreak of falling one game short of a World Series title. We've been busy talking this past fall and winter about Kris Bryant, Ben Zobrist and Anthony Rizzo, but we very easily could have been talking about Rajai Davis, Jason Kipnis and Francisco Lindor. Just one game, or even a few outs away.

Baseball can be cruel that way. So close, but still so far away.

At the same time, collectors, investors and fans can be more forgiving in that they look at Lindor as a growing and maturing long-term stock. The World Series loss was not a negative, it was another step up on the ladder of what looks to be an exciting career. Few expected postseason success in 2016, so it was all gravy. But now things start to change. He has been there. As a team and an individual player, Lindor and the Indians showed promise, and therefore, expectations run high.

It's quite a bit easier to do your job when expectations are not at championship level. Get there and lose one in the way they did though? Now the expectations become a heavier load. Collectors, like fans, will start to look for that moment of superstardom or any reason to bail. They start to doubt and wonder, was that all a fluke? It's fair to say Lindor, like Kyle Schwarber, has some unfinished business. They do have something to gain. Both will have a huge spotlight on them even early in spring training. Which way will this club go? Many who get that close and fall short have trouble getting back on top. Whether it's the disappointment of the loss or the pressure going forward, it's not easy to carry. The Texas Rangers had two close calls in 2010 and 2011. Much like the Indians, the Rangers' 2011 ending was devastating. The heartbreak after not holding a lead, with a clinching game within their grasp was crushing.

As the 8th overall draft pick in 2011, expectations have always been high on Lindor to succeed. His first key card followed soon after with 2011 Bowman Chrome Draft Prospect Autographs #FL Francisco Lindor. It currently lists for $50-$120. When you look at the prices for guys like Trout and Bryant, it's obvious his have a lot of room to move. He also had 2010 Bowman USA Baseball cards, that include autographs. They don't always maintain the values that the 2011 MLB licensed cards do, but it adds to the depth in which you can choose to collect him. While most sellers are calling the 2010 and 2011 issues his Rookie Cards, that official moniker only applies to his 2015 issues as he appeared in the major leagues. There are a lot of choices from 2015, and more affordable options than the 2011 versions.

As a shortstop with only medium power, his upside will never be that of Trout and Bryant. He does, however, have the opportunity to assume an All-Star role at that position. We are not living in the days of Derek Jeter and Cal Ripken, where it was impossible for anyone else to fill that spot. With his first Gold Glove season behind him, an early February ESPN article projected Lindor to earn that honor. He does have some very serious competition though. When you consider guys like Carlos Correa (Houston) and Xander Bogaerts (Boston), he is no lock. But he looks to be one of the top two or three you would expect to see in the early July Classic. Flipping over to the National League is no bargain either. Headliners like Cory Seager and Addison Russell would appear to have that position locked down for years to come.

To collect or not to collect is a very personal decision. But when it comes to Lindor, with his beaded necklace, big smile, and highly emotional play, he's a fun one to watch on the field. If his performance delivers on the many expectations he has upon him, it will be equally as fun to watch his price guide numbers deliver for collectors as well.

TRADITION CONTINUES

2017 Topps Baseball Variations and SPs

BY DAVE SLIEPKA | BASEBALL EDITOR

The 2016 Topps Chrome Baseball variations aren't exactly the same as the ones in the flagship release, but they come with a similar tone.

2017 Topps Series 1 Baseball variation short prints are likely going to keep you looking and taking second glances. This has become a tradition over the past several years.

Want to know what you should be looking for?

Once again, Topps is opting for different photos on the variations. As far as spotting them goes, it's much easier and distinct than patterns from the past like Sparkles, which last appeared in 2015 Topps Baseball.

DAVID ORTIZ VARIATIONS

Fresh off his final season, David Ortiz gets a lot of attention among the variations. He's featured on several cards. Just how many is still unfolding as more appear. Most seem to revolve around his retirement tour, with final stops and tributes in several stadiums.

FINDING 2017 TOPPS SERIES 1 VARIATIONS IN PACKS

Variations are not exclusive to any particular 2017 Topps Series 1 Baseball pack type. Both retail and hobby packs have them. As far as odds go, based on what's printed on wrappers, it looks as though things have been streamlined somewhat. Rather than having one set of short prints and another group of even tougher super short prints, there's just one group and it's the latter.

Variations are inserted 1:678 hobby packs and 1:126 hobby jumbo packs. That puts them in line with SSP cards from other years. But the easier group of short print, often about one per box, appear to be gone.

CONFIRMING SSP VARIATIONS WITH CODES ON THE BACK

In addition to the different images, you can once again double-check with the codes on the back in the fine print. Base cards end in 1730. Codes for variations end with 1786. This isn't what the codes are meant for, but it works. 🍪

SCHWARBER-TIME AGAIN FOR THE CUBS?

The World Series Champ could be ready to put his first full season together in Chi-Town

By Ryan Cracknell
Hobby Editor

Chicago Cubs Kyle Schwarber is one of the more interesting stories to watch going into the 2017 season. The now 23-year-old was called up in the second half of the 2015 season. He burst onto the scene with 16 Home Runs and 43 RBI in just 69 games. Collectors jumped on board heavily, giving his early 2016 Rookie Cards like 2016 Topps #66A ($.75-$2.00) a boost, and 2014 Bowman Chrome Draft, Draft Pick Autographs #BCAKS ($60-$150) even more promise. With the Cubs highly favored to win it all, he was primed to play a key role on a highly successful, if not Championship team. Great rewards were in store for fans and card investors alike.

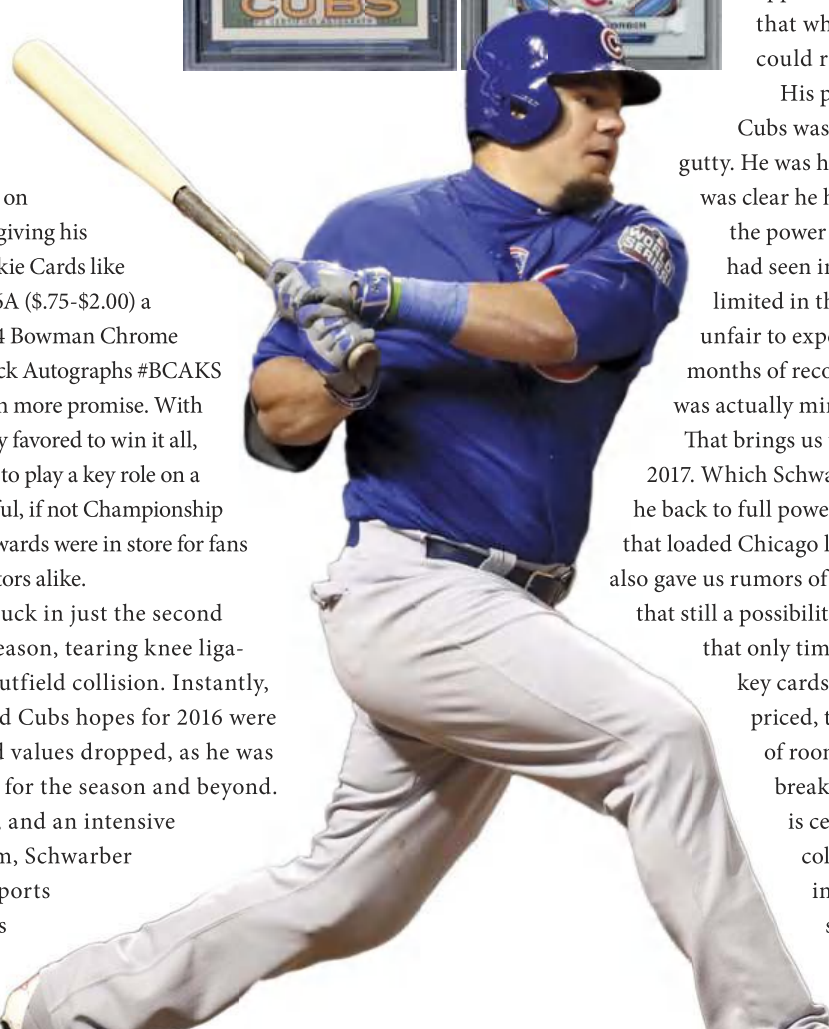

Tragedy struck in just the second game of the season, tearing knee ligaments in an outfield collision. Instantly, Schwarber and Cubs hopes for 2016 were crushed. Card values dropped, as he was sure to be out for the season and beyond. After surgery, and an intensive rehab program, Schwarber shocked the sports world with his return to the field in the World Series. Most recovery times for that kind of injury is a full 12 months or more. With a .500 on-base percentage, Schwarber played five games, garnering 7 hits in 17 at bats for a .412 batting average with 2 RBI. While clearly not fully healed, his appearance revived the hope that what was seen in 2015, could return.

His performance for the Cubs was nothing less than gutty. He was highly effective. But it was clear he had not yet built back the power behind the swing he had seen in the past. He was also limited in the field. It would be unfair to expect much after only 6 months of recovery. What was seen was actually miraculous.

That brings us to Spring Training 2017. Which Schwarber will we see? Is he back to full power? Where will he fit in that loaded Chicago line-up? The off season also gave us rumors of a potential trade. Is that still a possibility? Tough questions that only time can answer. With his key cards still fairly reasonably priced, there would be lots of room to move if he had a breakout spring. One thing is certain, many fans and collectors will be following his every at bats all spring long.

ART OF THE GAME

PREVIEW: 2017 PANINI DIAMOND KINGS

Artful approach to 2017 Diamond Kings

By Ryan Cracknell | Hobby Editor

Just as it has from its debut as a subset in 1982 Donruss, 2017 Panini Diamond Kings Baseball takes an artful look at the game. It offers a distinct look, a far-reaching checklist and plenty of parallels and inserts. Twelve-pack hobby boxes come with a pair of autographs or memorabilia.

BASE SET

The 2017 Panini Diamond Kings Baseball base set takes a similar approach to how it has the past couple of years. Rookies, veterans and retired players are all featured with images being given a filter to make them look like paintings. Short prints are new to the set this year, adding a bit more of a challenge as far as putting it together.

Select cards also have variations with different images.

Parallels come in nine styles, five of which are framed. Specific parallel levels include Grey and Brown Frame, both of which are new to the product, Artist's Proof Blue and black Masterpiece Frame (1/1).

AUTOGRAPHS AND MEMORABILIA CARDS

Autograph and memorabilia themes in 2017 Panini Diamond

Kings aren't too big in number.

However, the checklist is fleshed out by numerous parallels for those that are in the product.

Jersey Kings and Bat Kings were both part of 2016 Donruss Baseball. However, they've been moved over to Diamond Kings for 2017. Both have autographed versions in addition to basic relics.

Other autograph inserts in the product include DK Signatures, DK Rookie Signatures and Heritage Collection Material Signatures. Diamond Cuts feature cut signatures from greats and Hall of Famers.

Retired players are among the signers, once again. Among them — Hideki Matsui, who only signed in small numbers in the past.

Additional memorabilia offerings in 2017 Panini Diamond Kings Baseball include Ted Williams Collection Materials, Diamond Deco and Studio Portraits Materials.

INSERTS

Every pack has one basic insert as well. Making its debut in baseball are colorful Aurora cards. These make their way over from the similarly themed Court Kings Basketball.

LET'S PARTY LIKE IT'S 1959

(and 1960, 1982 and 1992)

By Ryan Cracknell | Hobby Editor

2017 Topps Archives Baseball embraces the past. It brings a sense of familiarity while offering new cards. Just like other recent editions of the brand, the goal is to trigger memories of old-time baseball, wads of pink gum and bike rides to the corner store — no matter what generation you're from.

But no matter how rooted in the “good old days” the product is, it's still a modern release. That means autographs and several chase elements to go along with the main set.

BASE SET

A big part of the product's nostalgia comes from the base set. Coming in at 300 cards, the checklist is a mix of current players, rookies and retired stars. The 2017 Topps Archives Baseball base set relies on three different designs: 1960 Topps, 1982 Topps and 1992 Topps. Each design has 100 cards.

Initial details on the product do not mention short prints. However, some cards have variation versions. Hobby packs have four levels of parallels, all of which are serial numbered: Peach, Blue, Red (/25) and Black (1/1).

AUTOGRAPHS

2017 Topps Archives Baseball sticks with the pattern of two autographs per box, all of which come with on-card signatures.

Fan Favorites Autographs are, once again, the cornerstone of the signed content. Retired players, not necessarily superstars, make up a significant amount of the checklist. Hall of Famers and current players are also included.

Fan Favorites Autographs come on a variety of retro designs. Parallels come in Peach, Blue, Red (/25) and Gold (1/1).

1960 Rookie Star Autographs is a new insert for 2017. Signed on-card, these use the 57-year-old subset design to showcase current rookies. All are numbered.

1959 Bazooka Baseball Autographs are also new. Included as a case hit, they're based on the 1959 Bazooka design and feature veterans and retired players.

Topps Originals Autographs round out the signed portion of 2017 Topps Archives Baseball. These are buyback cards that have been signed, stamped and numbered.

INSERTS

Outside of parallels and autographs, 2017 Topps Archives doesn't have many additional inserts. 1959 Bazooka Baseball has an unsigned version. There's also Retro Original cards that, according to Topps, use a vintage design with a checklist that's only today's top stars. 2017 Topps Archives Baseball is far from the only set to rely on nostalgia. 2017 Topps Heritage is another major example. But what makes Archives more distinct is that it pulls in lots of elements from several years. Heritage is more focused on taking a deep dive into one product. In the instance of 2017 Heritage, it's 1968.

DEREK JETER RETROSPECTIVE

With Derek Jeter back in the Topps fold, the card maker is revisiting the Yankees legend's cardboard career. 2017 Topps Archives Derek Jeter Retrospective inserts reprint more than 20 of his original cards released by the company during his playing career. They date back to his original 1993 Topps Rookie Card and go through to his retirement in 2015.

Inserted 1:12 hobby packs, base versions have a commemorative stamp done in silver. Parallels include Blue Foil (/150), Green Foil (/99), Gold Foil (/50), Red Foil (/10) and one-of-one Black Foil. Reprints are also inserted one per retail blaster.

Three of the cards are short prints, landing one per case. These include the 1993 Rookie Card, his final card from 2015 and the memorable 2007 Topps Derek Jeter that includes crudely Photoshopped images of Mickey Mantle and President George W. Bush in the background. These have the same parallels as the other cards minus the Blue Foil.

Autographs are also randomly inserted. These are numbered to 5 and have one-of-one Black Foil parallels.

RETAIL EXCLUSIVES

Eight-pack retail blasters have an exclusive of their own — Topps Coins. These are another throwback-style insert, although they're not exactly cards. Blasters each have a pack of two coins.

FOLLOW THE ROAD TO BUILDING TOPPS RAINBOW

But Caution: This particular road has its challenges

By Ryan Cracknell | Hobby Editor

If you're chasing a full 2017 Topps Baseball parallel rainbow of your favorite player, you've got your work cut out for you. Each card has more than a dozen different versions that factor in. These come not only in color but in card stock as well!

Some are found only in certain packs sold at certain stores, others are available in all pack types. Some have serial numbers, others aren't.

This is standard for the flagship release and around the same as how it has been for several years. There may be a couple tweaks here and there.

Some of the 2017 Topps parallels are easier to spot than others. For example, the Rainbow Foil and Clear cards come with a totally different surface.

The Negatives make images look like molten metal, so they're easy too. But the color-based cards may require a second look. The places to spot the color are two pennant-shaped triangles on the top half of the card and the space below the name plate. Of course, if they're serial numbered, that's another way. But sometimes these can be subtle enough that you may miss them if you blow quickly through packs.

While it may seem like a lot of parallels, most of them could prove to be fairly tough to track down with 50 copies or less in circulation. To help you keep tabs on all of the 2017 Topps Baseball parallels, here's a gallery showing what they look like and, when applicable, notes on where they're exclusive to. 📄

UNDERSTANDING THE REDISCOVER ULTIMATE CARD GIVEAWAY

By Ryan Cracknell | Hobby Editor

Stamped buybacks are returning and expanding in 2017 Topps baseball products. But it's also being given some minor tweaks dubbed the 2017 Topps Ultimate Card Giveaway.

Over the course of the year, Topps plans to insert two million cards from the past back into packs.

What Are 2017 Topps Ultimate Card Giveaway Buybacks?

As they have been for years, the buybacks are old cards that have been stamped. However, this time it's with "Rediscover Topps" going up the side of the card. Like 2016, foil the stamping comes in a variety of colors to indicate rarity.

A lot of the buybacks coming out of 2017 Topps Series 1 Baseball should be familiar to a lot of collectors. That's not because they're the biggest baseball cards of all-time. Rather, they're from the 1980s and early '90s when virtually everything had massive print runs. This isn't the case for all, though. Buybacks are included all the way up to 2016. A mix of stars and Rookie Cards can also be found.

Due to the scope of products used, it's virtually impossible to have an accurate checklist for buybacks.

To address concerns some collectors have about stamping old cards, some of the older buybacks used for the 2017 Topps Ultimate Card Giveaway have been left in their original form. This means no stamp. For cards from the 1950s era, it also means redemptions as they're too big to include in packs. So if you pull an Ultimate Card Giveaway Redemption, you're not going to get a 1988 Topps common.

BUYBACK ERRORS

It appears as though there were at least a couple of glitches with non-Topps cards getting stamped and packed out. One person pulled a 1992 Donruss Mark Lemke with the Rediscover Topps foil stamp and was asking $10,000 for it on eBay (as of February 2, 2017).

A 1991 Leaf Steve Lake stamped buyback also surfaced.

The likely explanation is that the cards were acquired in bulk and a few were mistakenly left in. Workers at the factory are typically not hobby-savvy enough to catch this type of error.

TOPPS ULTIMATE CARD GIVEAWAY CODE CARDS

Besides the buybacks, the Topps Rediscover Ultimate Card Giveaway also has code cards. Inserted approximately 1:6 packs in participating products, the primary function for these is to promote the program. However, the card's code can be entered on the Topps website and potentially unlock additional prizes including Topps BUNT digital cards and Topps Now cards.

If you get one of the code cards, they can be redeemed at www.topps.com/ultimatecard-giveaway-toppsnow

WHAT THE COLLECTORS ARE SAYING ON BECKETT.COM:

JAMES: Topps needs to put out a checklist of available buyback cards ... otherwise this process will continue to be sloppy and unwieldy. Under the current process, there's no way of knowing what cards exist. Just a giant fail.

BILL: What a mess... ridiculous that they would include Donruss cards. And yes, with no checklist, it's impossible to know what is or isn't included.

JDONOVAN: Putting a stamp on a 5 cent 1991 Topps card apparently raises its value 5000%. When did people stop collecting cards and start collecting gimmicks?

CORY MCLAUGHLIN: The Topps Now code redemption cards are a joke....no matter how careful you are, the adhesive pulls off the letters.

SUMMING IT UP

If you are a one or two box buyer, you are likely not going to see an autograph, and might only see a fairly plain mem card. The return value is likely going to be not very good. But chances are, you are going to be fairly happy you bought the box anyway. Let's get real.

This is the flagship of all baseball products. It's fun. It variety. Its mysteries with twists and turns you did not expect. It's not the mystery treasure of Oak Island, but there will likely be value there for you anyway. The photo variations are plentiful, but the frequency is MUCH tougher than in the past. Early reports are only 1-3 per Hobby case. That is really disappointing considering their popularity. They look great. The design is very nice, but the cost of buying them on line just jumped hugely this year.

As we said, there is a lot going on. The Rediscover Topps Buybacks are hit or miss. You should get 3-4 per box. You could get junk commons, or you might just get that guy you collector from the 80's. Some have grown tired of this idea, we haven't. Having a stamped card from the past is kind of cool. We are all collectors, so even the most boring, average player from the past could be highly desirable to a long-time player collector of that guy.

We also like the 1987 Topps insert design, and the old logo, with original card stock. If you have collected for over 15 years, they are very nostalgic. Hard not to find something to like in this product. It's not investment grade, but it's not supposed to be. Have fun collecting!

1952 TOPPS #311 MICKEY MANTLE ROOKIE CARD SGC 86, NRMT 7.5 • $134,750

The first key 1952 Mantle to hit in 2017 is this SGC 86, NRMT 7.5, at Goldin Auctions. One of the top two most talked about cards of 2016, the 1952 Topps Mickey Mantle broke sales records multiple times last year. It will be very exciting to watch what 2017 brings. This example is not the best out there, but by SGC standards, only seven have ever ranked higher. To the naked eye, this one looks amazing. Squarely sharp corners, and generally smooth edges. Well centered. At arms-length, you could think this is flawless. But we don't grade at arms-length. Tiny, tiny imperfections at the corners and edges show up when magnified. That leads us to believe the card appears to be fairly graded. You could get an argument for an 8 here, but that is a discussion for the winner of this beauty.

The auction at Goldinauctions.com ended January 28, 2017, and also included:

Preview: 2017 Historic Autographs Kings Baseball

Two cut signatures in each box

By Ryan Cracknell | Hobby Editor

2017 Historic Autographs Kings Baseball is an all-cut signature release. The checklist covers a broad scope of time, reaching back to the game's early days all the way up to the present. Each box comes with a pair of cut signature cards, one from a set list of Gold players and another from a separate Silver list.

Gold autographs include Babe Ruth, Jackie Robinson, Ty Cobb and Satchel Paige.

This is also where a lot of the tougher signatures from early players can be found. According to Historic Autographs, three Ruth cuts are available.

Silver names are still stars, but there's a greater concentration of players from the modern era. These include Ken Griffey Jr, Sandy Koufax, Nolan Ryan and Miguel Cabrera.

2017 Historic Autographs Kings Baseball has a production run of 80 cases. Each case has four boxes.

YOU LIKE KRIS BRYANT. Who does he like?

By Ryan Cracknell
Hobby Editor

Two years ago, we were talking about Kris Bryant the prospect. Now he's a big reason why the Cubs are World Series Champions. He's also the reigning National League MVP. Still, at just 25-years of age, Bryant is aware of who's making their way up through the minors.

When asked which prospects and young players collectors should watch out for, Bryant was quick to give two names. The first one shouldn't be a huge surprise. Bryant highlighted Atlanta's Dansby Swanson, the first overall pick in the 2015 MLB draft.

"I like how he plays the game. Coming from Vanderbilt, obviously a winning program there. It's just his whole demeanor and how he carries himself," Bryant said. "I haven't got a chance to play against him yet but I've seen plenty of highlights. He looks like he's going to be a pretty good one for a long time."

Swanson has his first Rookie Card in 2017 Topps Series 1.

Having made his MLB debut with

Atlanta in August, he'll have more Rookies throughout the season. Reaching back a little further, Swanson also has a 2015 Bowman Chrome Draft autograph. Topps included a second Chrome Prospect Autograph in 2016 Bowman after he was traded from Arizona to the Braves. Bryant was also quick to name one of his potential future teammates in Chicago.

"I've been hearing a lot about Eloy Jimenez," said Bryant. "He was tearing it up in A ball last year, AA this year. He looks like a pretty good one coming up."

Bryant noted Jimenez's age also. The outfielder just turned 20 in the off-season. Last season with South Bend of the A-level Midwest League, Jimenez hit .329 with 14 home runs and 81 runs batted in. The Cubs signed Jimenez as a free agent in 2013.

Leaf included Eloy Jimenez autographs in three of their products that year: 2013 Leaf Metal Draft, 2013 Leaf Memories and 2013 Leaf Trinity.

His first MLB cards can be found in 2014 Bowman Draft.

TOPPS TRANSCENDENT 65TH ANNIVERSARY PARTY:

Exclusive cards include Bryant, Trout autographs

You knew the Topps 65th Anniversary party was going to be more than just a nice meal. Held in Las Vegas on January 18, the only way to attend was with an invitation found in 2016 Topps Transcendent Baseball, a product that cost more than $20,000 per briefcase.

First off, there was the special guest. On the invitation, it was a mystery. But Topps quickly confirmed that it would be Kris Bryant who would be appearing.

This was a party hosted by a card company. So, of course, there were exclusive cards made for the event as well. Some big-ticket cards at that.

Not surprisingly, many of the Topps 65th Anniversary party exclusives were connected to Bryant. Among them was a handful of new 2016 Topps Transcendent Kris Bryant autographs. Each is numbered to 15. They each use a different photo and caption.

Keeping with 2016 Topps Transcendent, gift bags came with a set of 65 different Kris Bryant cards — one for each of the Topps Baseball flagship designs from 1952 through 2016. These match the one-of-one Kris Bryant autographs made for the product.

Every guest also received a special Kris Bryant BUNT card. Numbered to 65, backs have a code that can be used in the app.

Not everything handed out was Bryant-related, though. Guests received one of four different Mike Trout autograph cards made exclusively for the party. According to Topps, they used the 1953, 1955, 1979 and 1991 designs. Each of the Topps 65th Anniversary Party Mike Trout Autographs is numbered to 15.

SILVER PACKS

a new incentive for buying 2017 Topps Baseball Hobby boxes

By Ryan Cracknell
Hobby Editor

In case you were wondering where to buy your 2017 Topps Series 1 Baseball boxes, the card maker has created an incentive for hobby shops and other outlets selling hobby boxes. They can now get exclusive Silver packs with 1987 Topps Chrome cards.

This isn't a Chrome version of the actual 1987 set — there's enough of the original out there already. Rather, it's a chromium insert set featuring veterans, rookies and retired players. 2017 Topps Series 1 has a basic (non-Chrome) insert set revolving around the design as well.

The 2017 Topps Silver Pack base set has 50 cards.

Veterans, retired stars and rookies are all included. Base versions come with a Prism Refractor background, separately them from something that's traditional Topps Chrome. Parallels include Green (/150), Blue (/99), Orange (/75), Gold (/50), Red (/5) and Black (1/1).

Autographs are also randomly inserted. While most of the signers are young players, there are several superstars as well. Kris Bryant, Clayton Kershaw and Mike Trout headline the checklist.

Collectors who buy a 2017 Topps Series 1 hobby box from a shop or dealer participating in the program get one of the exclusive packs. The more expensive hobby jumbo boxes are good for two packs.

The program feels like a revamped version of the Spring Fever program Topps has had for the past few years.

The Silver packs also similar to Upper Deck Overtime Hockey, another series of bonus packs used as incentives for box purchases.

As with any hobby promotion, it's always wise to check with your local dealer to confirm that they're participating in the program before committing to buy.

Autographs are also randomly inserted. While most of the signers are young players, there are several superstars as well. Kris Bryant, Clayton Kershaw and Mike Trout headline the checklist.

Icon Remembered

By DAVE SLIEPKA | BECKETT BASEBALL EDITOR

The sports card industry has lost another icon.

Alan “Mr. Mint” Rosen passed away Thursday, Jan. 26, after a battle with Leukemia. He was 70.

If you were a collector in the 1980s and ‘90s, you knew Alan Rosen. Or at least knew of him. It was hard not to know the self-proclaimed Mr. Mint. From his trademark page 1 buying ads in Sports Collectors Digest, to his premium locations at every major show, Al was bigger than life, bigger than the hobby. And he loved it that way. As Mr. Mint, Rosen promoted himself as “The world’s largest buyer of baseball cards and sports cards.” He was also called, The King of Cards, The Duke of Dough, The Million Dollar Buyer, The Mint Man, and The Buying Machine. You see, just one nick-name would never be enough for Alan Rosen.

Before auction houses became commonplace on the industry horizon, Al Rosen – or Mr. Mint – was the industry’s largest buyer of high-end cards and whole collections. His focus was mainly vintage, but he was not afraid to make money on anything. He even dabbled in toys, going by the high-grade moniker, “Mr. C-10.”

From New Jersey, Al was every bit of the East Coast used car dealer stereotype. He was loud, bold, brash, a braggart and aggressive. And people loved it. To start a show, he would fill a display case with $100 bills. So, when it came to buying, he not only talked a big game, he backed it up. Same with his heavy advertising. He would post big dollar signs, pictures of cash, and stats from previous big deals on page one of every Sport Collectors Digest, and later Beckett Sports Collectibles. But again, he backed it up. He would often fly out to take a look at collections all over the country – and that was news itself. If it was worthy, he would usually leave with it as well. More headlines.

Al was not afraid to confront customers. He was not afraid to put an offer out, but pull it back if the person took too long. It was very much like the pressure of Shark Tank. He would do whatever he had to do to get the deal. If that meant breaking you down, minimizing the competition or burning a bridge, nothing seemed to faze him. He wasn’t known to pal around with many in the industry, but he did have his friends. One of those was Beckett Authentication Services’ Steve Grad. “He was a pretty interesting guy,” Grad says. “He’d seen just about everything in our business. He’d been all over buying stuff and he had a pretty cool perspective. Did he know everything? No way. He wasn’t really good with autographs and authenticity, or if a card had been altered, but he knew how to buy collections.”

Indeed he did.

He grew to become such a force in the hobby, shows would offer him a table or booth for free because they knew he would bring in sellers. He required it to be the best, front position at the show. Whether that be a local show or The National Sports Collectors Convention, you would never see him unless it was front and center as you walked in. If you were carrying a bag, you were sure to hear, “Got anything in there to sell?” No deals would get past him, including no less than nine different T-206 Honus Wagner tobacco cards. He may have been best known for two things: (1) The 1952 Topps Find in Quincy, Mass., in 1986 that yielded more than 40 high-number Mickey Mantle cards, ad (2) Likely being the first person to appear on a national TV show, Good Morning America, talking about cards.

He was also the first to have a multi-page article written about him in Sports Illustrated. It’s quite likely he was the first card dealer to have a promotional Photo-Ball, a Plush Beanie, and a bobble-head made of HIMSELF! Collectors would often line up at his table to get HIS autograph.

Oh and of course, he did write a book about his own success as well. No question he was a great self-promoter and great marketer. He ran in the same circles as Barry Halper, Reggie Jackson, and even a New York developer named Donald Trump. He was simply this hobby’s greatest source for cash, if you needed to sell.

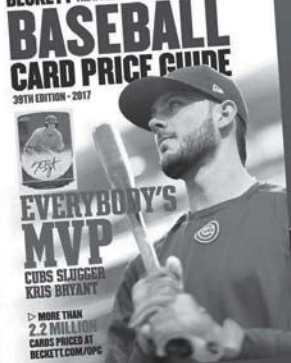

Another Rosen friend was Adam Martin of DA Card World in Buffalo. In the later part of Alan’s career, Dave Silver and Adam rose to become a force in modern card buying. Autographs and memorabilia cards were their specialty. Seeing that wasn’t Rosen’s wheelhouse, a relationship was born. They would travel to shows together, often splitting the booth. Rosen would get the vintage opportunities, Adam would take the modern. “Traveling with Alan I learned a lot,” Martin says. “Some of what to do, and some of what NOT to do. But regardless of his rough edges, Al was a hobby legend and first-ballot hobby Hall of Famer.”

Added Grad: “[Al was a] good guy, but tended to alienate people by his harsh attitude. But he was a good guy underneath all that harshness.”

One thing most veterans of the sports card industry agree on is that Rosen helped promote the hobby as a viable means of opportunity. If you did not know him, his website, MrMint.com, is an interesting look into his life and the glory days of the hobby. Rest well Mr. Mint, you truly were “a buying machine.”

New Season Brings “New” Rookies

With the release of 2017 Topps Series 1 on February 1st, the hobby calendar officially flipped over to 2017. Along with the usual excitement surrounding the release of Topps Series 1, comes an all new batch of “true” Rookie Cards. We use the word “true” because with the changes implemented in 2006 defining what can and what cannot be considered a Rookie Card, many of the game’s top players have had cards for many years – as we’ll see below - before they get their first Rookie Card in the Online Price Guide. While many collectors consider the first prospect cards produced by Topps, Panini, Upper Deck and Leaf to be Rookie Cards, there is a large contingent of collectors who pride themselves on collecting only those cards that have the RC tag in the Beckett Database. Let’s take a look at some of the top new Rookie Cards from 2017 Topps.

DANSBY SWANSON, SS, BRAVES

Drafted first overall in the 2015 draft, Swanson spent 22 games with the Diamondbacks Low-A Hillsboro Hops before he was traded in December of 2015 to the Braves. He played 38 games for the Braves in 2016, hitting .302 with 3 home runs and 17 runs batted in. Entering the 2017, he was named second best prospect in baseball by Baseball Prospectus, the third best by Baseball America and the fourth best by MLB.com. Swanson already has 837 cards cataloged in the Online Price Guide, dating back to 2014 USA Baseball cards. His 2015 Bowman Chrome Draft Draft Pick Autographs ($120) has been a Hot List regular since its release, but his 2015 Elite Extra Edition Prospect Autographs is an often overlooked bargain at just $50. His 2017 Topps #87A RC is currently valued at $4, while the “red jersey” photo variation version of the card is not priced due to scarcity.

YOAN MONCADA, 2B, WHITE SOX

A former Red Sox free agent signing from Cuba in 2015, the highly touted Moncada was the key piece in the multi-player trade that sent Chris Sale to the Red Sox in return for Moncada and three other Minor Leaguers. Moncada was named the second best prospect in baseball by both MLB.com and Baseball America, and the fifth best by Baseball Prospectus. And while he didn’t do much in his 8 game stint with the Red Sox, it’s unfair to judge him on such a small sample size and the 21-year-olds potential is undeniable. He currently has 652 cards in the Online Price Guide dating back to 2015. His 2015 Elite Extra Edition Prospect Autographs ($80) has been one of his most popular cards with collectors, as his 2016 Bowman Chrome Prospect Autographs ($350). His 2017 Topps #210A RC is valued at $4. A photo variation, picturing him in a red jersey, exists, but is not priced due to scarcity. As is the case with all photo variation cards, it does not carry the RC tag in the database.

ANDREW BENINTENDI, OF, RED SOX

Taken seventh overall by the Red Sox in the 2015 draft, expectation are sky-high for Benintendi entering the 2017 season. He has been named the top prospect in all of baseball by both MLB.com and Baseball America. The Red Sox gave Benintendi a taste of Major League Baseball last season, where he appeared in 34 games and hit .295 with 2 home runs and 14 runs batted in. He currently has 543 cards in the Online Price Guide, with his first appearing in the 2015 Bowman Chrome Draft product. Fueled by him being on the top of so many “2017 Top Prospects” lists, his 2015 Bowman Chrome Draft Pick Autographs ($150) shot to the top of this month’s Hot List. His 2017 Topps #283A RC is currently valued at $4. There is a photo variation of this card where Benintendi is shown being interviewed, but this card is not priced due to scarcity nor does it carry the “RC” tag in our database.

ALEX BREGMAN, 3B, ASTROS

The second overall pick in the 2015 MLB June Amateur Player Draft, Bregman played 146 games in the Minor Leagues before making his Major League debut on July 25th of last season. In 49 games with the Astros, he hit .264 with 8 home runs and 34 runs batted in. Having exceeded his rookie limits during the 2016, he is no longer technically considered a prospect. Still, prospectors and collectors alike remain high on the young third baseman. Bregman has 784 cards in the Online Price Guide dating all the way back to 2010 when he appeared in several USA Baseball themed insert sets in Bowman brands, as well in the 2010 USA Baseball product. His 2015 Elite Extra Edition Prospect Autographs ($40) and 2016 Bowman Chrome Prospect Autographs ($150) cards have been especially popular with collectors. He’s sure to have “true” Rookie Cards in nearly every 2017 product. His 2017 Topps #341A RC is valued at $4. It should be noted that there is a photo variation of this card where Bregman is pictured kneeling. This card has yet to be priced due to scarcity and does not carry the official Rookie Card designation in the Online Price Guide.

New in the Price Guide

2016 Bowman’s Best, 2016 Elite Extra Edition, 2016 Panini Pantheon, 2016 Topps Transcendent and 2017 Topps Series 1 are all making their debut in this month’s Price Guide. 2017 Topps Heritage, 2017 Topps Sticker Collection and 2017 Donruss are all scheduled to go live in the weeks following our deadline. Be sure to check out the Online Price Guide on Beckett.com throughout February and March for pricing on these products - weeks before it will appear in the next issue of Beckett Baseball.

What the Columns Mean

The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column generally represents full retail selling price. The LO column generally represents the lowest price one could expect to find with extensive shopping.

Multipliers

Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X HI) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X HI," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

Pricing Premiums

Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards of players who became hot since this issue went to press, regional stars or fan favorites in high demand locally, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches or patches.

Stated Odds and Print Runs

Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = one in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately. Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media LP nor the manufacturer.
